“The sisterhood that Zeta has provided me with throughout my time in this chapter has been nothing short of a true form of love, support, and the type of friendship I craved for years to find. I knew that Zeta was the answer to my prayer when I walked through their doors on the first day of rush and was instantly provided with a group of girls who would become my family, not because it was forced but because they represented what a Zeta woman stands for. The day I walked into Zeta I talked to the two girls who would later become my big and grand big, we formed a connection that I never thought was possible from one conversation; yet, I knew their intentions were true and they talked to me not as a friend but as a sister. Still to this day almost two years later, I continue to turn to Sarah and Lauren to be my backbone, and my ultimate mentors. They have been my support system since the day I became a Zeta and I couldn’t imagine a life in college where I didn’t have their beds to lay in and talk until the next morning, call at any day and time, and run to when I want to be my happiest and realest self. Zeta has given me the sisterhood I never knew I needed but could never imagine living without.”

Sisterhood means having a constant support system and girls that will always hold me accountable. In Zeta, I have found sisterhood to be so much more than I could have ever imagined. Throughout the ups and downs of college thus far, I have never felt so supported by them than any other group of girls. They are always there to help me through any situation and pick me up when I fall short. Sisterhood also means sharing fun and exciting times together and I find that in Zeta I have the most fun when I’m with all of my zeta friends. I wouldn’t trade this sisterhood for the world!
